

Feel ready to take some time out for studies and doing web searches?

Ok, let's see how so far, 9 Stars will have been there in news events for 2012. Then, many in Flying Star Feng Shui seem to have difficulty in deciding the correct Facing side of their house.

Flying Star Feng Shui How to find Facing and Sitting

Everything in Flying Star Feng Shui starts and ends in your deciding on the correct Facing.

Some Feng Shui situations leave no room for doubt and the Facing side would have been discernable from a mile away. Then again, matters may become a bit more complicated, so you will need to assess the situation at the locale, knowing how to weigh all perimeters.

We say: "Facing is where ultimately the house receives most Yang Qi", but where is that and which Yang factor would then go before (overrule) the other Yang factor? Well, you'd have to weigh.

And, don't worry for a bit, as even the greatest master 'out there' would need take it step by step each time it comes to deciding the Facing side.

Your house is like a ship: where is it headed?

Distinguish between Facing Wall, Facing Palace and the 45 degrees sector to contain the main entrance.

You'd have simplified the process if first you ruled out at least 2 walls. By weighing overall Yang factors, you'll see how those would fail to still be a candidate.

Between remaining Yang factors, you decide which would go before the other. Here, you'd work with 'all else being equal', then (check, double-check) decide what prevails, sun path or road, door or slope.

Priority lists are non-existent in metaphysics, rather, you'd engage into a tought process and Push Hands with each new situation you encounter.

Note that we're into Qi Confinement and transportation and distribution of energy and you'll be just fine.

You may study from books or from someone's class, but in order to Trace the Dragon, you'd actually step outside and practice. That's your Push Hands at the plane of energy-manifest phenomenon-energy, back and forth. As your exercise, stay with Google Street View, where you'd assess Facing for random houses.

It's all there. While noting annual Reversed Luoshu Axis, look up attributes in this series for annual Stars 1,2 and 6, then note how each one has actually turned up in your news, while you'd combine Star properties to give other events.

Note annual Star 6 and what we said to account of (then combine those) military (compounds), militants, coupe d'etat, governmental buildings, embassies, officials, ice, avalanches, mud slides.

March 2012 was a 4 Wood month. If Star 6 is ice and Star 4 airplane, it's only typical to see fishermen₁ displaced₂ on ice₆, and the choppers₄ there. Also, did you see us link Star 6 to ice stadium, then this?

"Read the Stars, build the story" means, take the nouns in a news report to the belonging 9 Stars: TGV tunnel / bus crash tunnel / arms dumb blast / bomb palace / coupe d'etat I / coupe d'etat II.
